A new landmark in Tashkent

The Islamic Civilization Centre is Uzbekistan's flagship cultural landmark, certified by Guinness World Records as the largest Islamic museum spanning 10 hectares with approximately 50,000 m² of built-up area and an estimated investment of US$160 million.

Home to the Original Uthman Mushaf, one of the world's oldest Qur'an manuscripts recognized by UNESCO, the Centre also features a museum, library, research institute, and exhibition galleries, making it a new landmark of Tashkent.

Three Storeys · Rooftop Terrace

The building is conceived as a contemporary reinterpretation of Uzbek architectural language — load-bearing brick, a portal entry, and decorative panels referencing Tashkent's historic madrasas, all expressed in restrained modern proportions.
